The Nebraska Cultural Unity Conference (NCUC) was first established in (2002). Since then, NCUC has been presented to students all over Nebraska and has even expanded to touching states. Its mission is to help students understand the importance of higher education; the conference was made with the intention to motivate students to become bigger and better future leaders.

This year’s workshops will address numerous topics concerning student issues currently present in schools and communities. The main goal is to inform and allow students to engage in conversations with educated speakers on specific topics. The topics for 2018 NCUC include the following: immigration, personal wellness, civic engagement, cultural awareness, leadership, and financial aid for education.
